

Killer whales of Sea Lion Island

Nene - ESRG_003

PREVIOUS NAMES AND CODES

None

FIRST SEEN: 2013

SIZE: Extra Small

SEX: Unknown

NOTES

Likely calf of Puma, very young; always associated with Puma and Tazzina; never seen entering the “pool” (it stays out of it while Puma and Tazzina enters)

FEATURES

- General

Dark grey in colour with slightly lighter saddle patch

- Right side

R1) A whitish reversed “E” in front of the saddle patch. This is the most distinctive feature on the right side

R2) A whitish line pointing downward on bottom part of the fin, useful for identification when the saddle patch is not visible

R3) A whitish line pointing downward on the right side of the saddle patch; only visible in close ups and well defined pictures

R4) Two whitish lines pointing backwards from the top of the left side of the saddle patch; only visible in close ups and well defined pictures

- Left side

L1) A whitish sign looking as a “running man” in the right part of the saddle patch. This is the most distinctive feature on the left side

L2) Two undulated whitish lines, just on top of L1

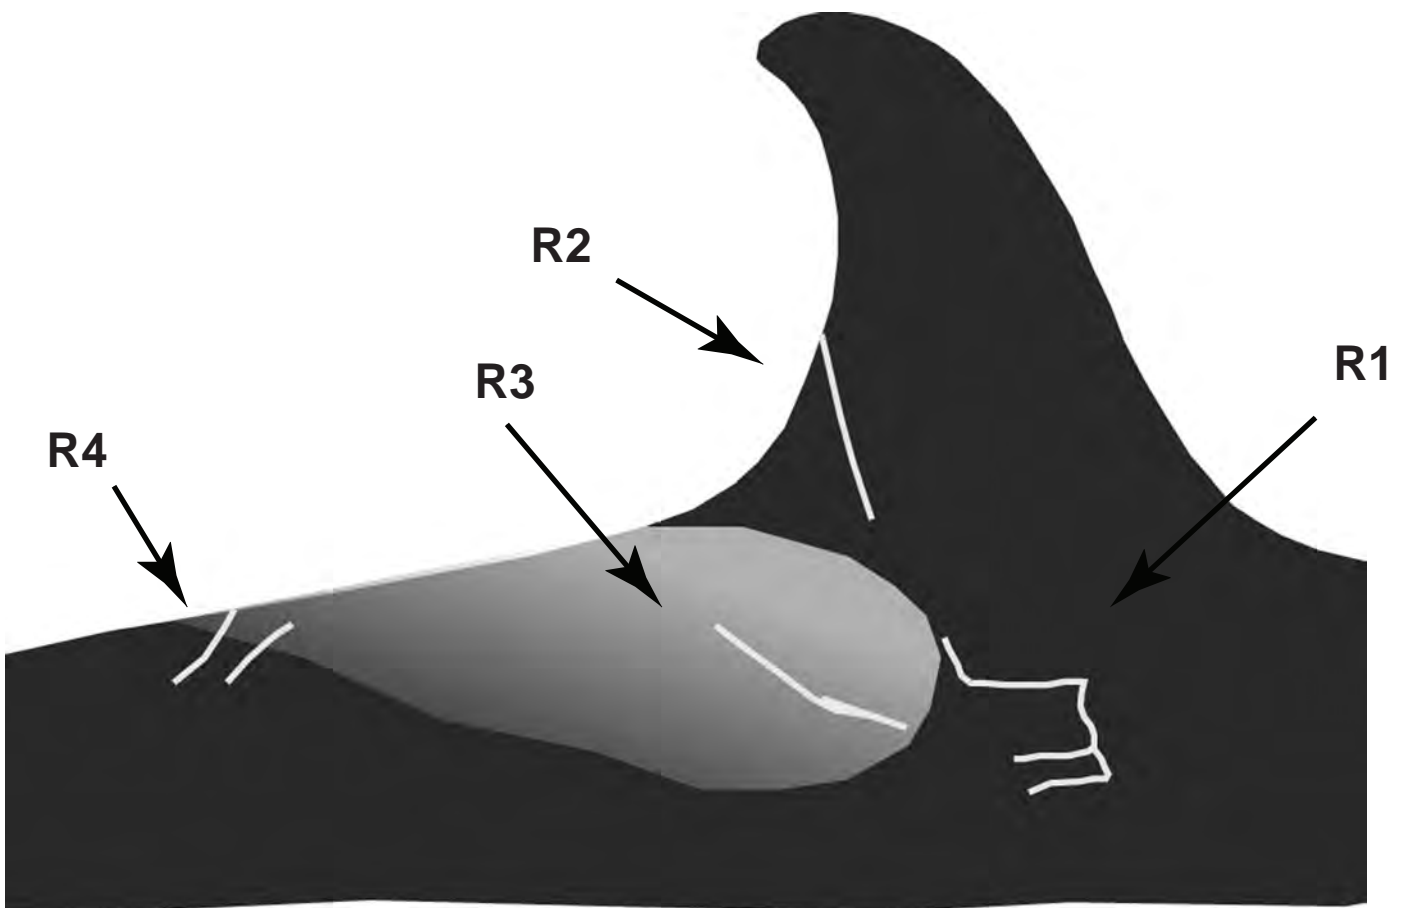

L3) Two curved whitish lines pointing down from the top of the right side of the saddle patch (possibly continuation of R4); only visible in close ups and well defined pictures

L4) A whitish line pointing backwards from the top of the body, right to L3

- Fin

F1) Small fin, very curved on the top

Right side

Left side

